COURSE DESCRIPTION

Healthcare providers struggle every day to successfully and ethically treat patients with personality disorders. Since personality disorders take on new dimensions as a patient ages, there are unique challenges in working with seniors diagnosed with them. What are the ethical dilemmas that overwhelm healthcare providers? How do we treat the senior with empathy while ensuring that appropriate boundaries are in place? What are the best practices for collaborating with multidisciplinary teams while honoring our individual professional ethics? Join us for this thought-provoking program designed to improve your understanding of ethically treating seniors with personality disorders.

*This workshop is designed for intermediate and advanced level social workers & case managers who have practiced in counseling settings and/or with older adults.
